The Little Terns of Gronant

The Little Terns of Gronant project is a partnership between RSPB CYMRU, Presthaven beach resort and Denbighshire County Council and has been made possible via the RSPB Aren't Welsh Birds Brilliant! project.

Our Commitment

Presthaven beach resort firmly believes in providing families with a leisure experience that allows them to spend time together in a safe and attractive environment. We also recognise the need for sustainable tourism when offering such experiences.

Therefore, our team is committed to enhancing the aesthetic and wildlife appeal of Presthaven beach resort. In addition to this commitment, we are dedicated to educating guests about the importance of natural areas surrounding the beach resort and supporting organisations that maintain them.

The Gronant and Talacre Dunes has been designated a SSSI (Site of Specific Scientific Interest), which is recognised at a European level because of its ecological significance. This area contains a special combination of sand dune habitats which provide an important home for rare species of plants and animals. We appreciate you helping us to keep this a special place.

David Bellamy Conservation Award

The David Bellamy Conservation Awards aims to recognise caravan parks and campsites in the UK that are environmentally friendly and encourage others to follow suit. In 2003 Presthaven beach resort was awarded the Gold Conservation Award for its commitment to the environment and have been awarded it every year since.
